

CHCA Ken Shedden Architectural Awards 2006/07

The winner of our CHCA architectural awards for 2007 is 209 – 8th Avenue NE. The owners are Scott Matieshin and Lynn Engel, builder is HB Construction and the Architect is Robert Pashuk.

We did not have an award for 2006 as we did not have enough projects completed enough to judge at the time of the AGM, so we evaluated the 2006 and 2007 projects at the same time.

The reasons for 209 winning so clearly are respect for the street, scale, and roofline. 209 shows a clear respect for the street in terms of setback and interest. It is a project clearly designed specifically for the lot and takes the neighbors houses and streetscape into account. 209 could be larger, but the scale would then overwhelm the neighbors and the street. All too often homes are overbuilt to maximize square footage and height, disturbing the scale of the surroundings.

209 has an interesting roofline that adds to the street and the neighborhood. Part of this is due to the height, which is less than the by-law maximum, keeping the house in scale. A complicated roofline is more expensive and does not add square footage but makes a property more interesting than the typical "box with lids" seen in the suburbs.

Renderings are always interesting in that they show the structure isolated in a field instead of on the actual lot. Too often we see wonderful plans yet they are not designed with the adjacent neighbors in mind. 209 was designed with the neighbors in mind and it shows. Unfortunately many professional house designers in Calgary are used to working on big lots in the suburbs and don't seem to understand in the inner city the house will be viewed walking from a sidewalk or from a narrow street. 209 is a wonderful property to view at inner city speeds and inner city distances.

In previous years we have used a panel of industry representatives and one year Robert Pashuk was actually on the selection committee! This year, we used the traffic and planning committee ourselves. Our first task was to narrow down the number of projects from thirty-five to five. We did this by having an open vote with all members choosing their top five. We then voted on the top five and ranked them one to five with five being the highest, and added up the numbers.

In the 2006/2007 competition, six people voted in the first round. Only one project, 209, was on all six lists. There were two projects on four lists and any number of projects with two entries.

On the final vote 209 was the clear winner as the first or second choice of six of the eight votes. With any 4 votes, it would have been impossible for 209 to not win. Due to the overwhelming nature of the results, we did not have any honorable mentions. There was a lack of commercial / multifamily developments to choose from so we decided to hold off until 2009 when we have more of a choice.

There were some wonderful developments in Crescent Heights in 2006/2007 and we are pleased to see a number of high quality developments under construction in time for the 2009 awards.

2007 Audit

By George Day

Our audit was completed by Heidi Brauer, CMA. Heidi is associated with Calgary Communities and she has been our auditor for the past number of years. She has stated that the financial statement we presented at the AGM fairly reflect our financial position.

One highlight for 2007 is a decline in Hall revenues: $47,000 in 2006 to $40,500 in 2007. Our hall manager, Marlene Zaharichuk give two basic reasons for this decrease. First, she has rejected numerous "concert" booking from people we did not know. Second, a long time renter, Foothills Bluegrass

Society did not renew their contract because they found the sound qualities not suitable for jamming.

Membership revenue also decreased from $4,00 in 2006 to $3,200 in 2007. It may be time to have a membership drive. Everyone should review their membership card and ensure that they are current.

On the plus side our bank balances are in good shape. The hall revenues are covering our operating and maintenance costs and the casino / grant monies can cover our roof replacement in 2008 and other items in our Life Cycle Report for the near future.

President's Notebook

By John McDermid

It has been a busy few weeks as some warm weather finally arrives just on the eve of the May long weekend. This should get things greening up and the early things blooming.

Since our last View deadline we've held our 2008 AGM on April 21st. The meeting was well attended and a slate of eight directors was elected to serve as your Crescent Heights Community Association Board of Directors through April 2009. You may have noticed in the last issue that I was bidding a fond farewell to Joe Nagy, but we were able to convince Joe to stay on for another year as our Planning Director. Welcome back Joe, and to all of our returning directors, plus new board member Penny Smith. Penny attended our April board meeting, wasn't scared off immediately, and so agreed to let her name stand for election at the AGM.

Since we first met as the new board in early May, most of us have kept our familiar assignments. Anne Underwood will continue as Secretary and George Day will refrain his excellent work as Treasurer. As noted, Joe Nagy stays with Planning, and our second-newest board member, Kris Karvinen, had agreed to take on the Traffic portfolio. Traffic and Planning continue to be our busiest areas of advocacy, because we always have lots of redevelopment in the community and we certainly have lots of traffic. Penny Smith is going to explore the role of Communications Director, under George's guidance, while Parks and Green Spaces Director Sharon Anderson-Marr will continue in her role. Daniel Dang continues to keep his finger on the pulse of the business community here in Crescent heights as our Business Liaison Director. I'll continue as President until I am led away mumbling.

The AGM was also an opportunity to acknowledge a few people who had to withdraw from the board over the past year. Rhonda Kohnen and David Finch both had to defer to other commitments, as did Morgan Yates late in the year. Once again we thank them all for their efforts in the community and wish them well.

As well as board elections and some usual bits of business always seen to at the AGM, there is the increasingly important item of business which is the presentation of our Audited Financial Statements. This year's financials were hot off the press from the FCC on the day of the AGM, and showed us to be in a financially sound position. See George Day's summary of the audit on page 3. We extend a special thanks to George and to Daniel Dang for getting our ducks all in a row and ready for our annual financial check-up. Subsequent to the AGM, there were some slight adjustments to accounts receivable in the audit, based on our review of the version presented to the membership, and any members wishing to see the final version can contact George Day for a copy.

About a year and half ago we placed an ad here in the View seeking a handy-person who could see to some minor repairs from time around the Hall. Russell Hemsing stepped forward and did some very nice work for us, but late last year he had to give up this position due to other commitments. If there is anyone else out there who likes to swing a hammer, can change light bulbs without breaking a sweat, and could spare a few hours each month, we could sure use you. Please contact any member of the board to put your name forward. There could be a monogrammed hammer in it for you.

As summer approaches, so do a number of our regular and special events here in the community. On June 20th, we'll be having our first-ever Solstice Wine Tasting event. We are still in the early stages of planning for this tasty function, but seating will be limited to 48 people, and we will be tasting between six and eight notable wines, with snacks alongside. Contact Joe Nagy at 277-1364 for further information.

Next up, on the last day of the Stampede, will be our ever-popular Stampede Breakfast on July 13th. We are facing some challenges this year, however, as a number of our Board members will be away from Calgary on the day of the event. With the popularity of the breakfast, that means we'll need a solid core of volunteers on the day and in the lead-up to the breakfast. If you can spare a few hours, please contact any member of the CHCA board and we'll get you a plum assignment.

In the week following the Breakfast is one of my favourite annual events here in Crescent Heights: the Garden Tour. Every year I am amazed at the range of hidden treasures revealed on this one day each year. Sharon Anderson-Marr is again heading up this event, and can provide more information as the July 20th date approaches. She advises that her crew of Garden Spies are already afoot in the community, searching out host gardens for 2008.

Helga Shield will again lead her historic walk in the community. This is an event I have always wanted to attend but have not yet been able to. This year for sure, as Helga will take us around starting at 7:00 pm on July 26th, departing from the CHCA Hall.

That's about all that's brewing for the foreseeable. We welcome any and all to these upcoming summer events and hope to see you all there. I could ramble on further, but the sky is blue, the sun is shining and it's finally warm, so I'm heading out into the garden to get my hands in the dirt.

River and Pathway Clean-up Another Success

By Hound Ferret

May 4th saw an intrepid crew of Crescent Heights residents head down to the Bow River, as we reclaimed our regular assignment for the 41st Annual River and Pathway Clean-up. Our stretch of the river is the near North bank, or river left as the organizers term it, from the Calgary Curling Club near Prince's Island, to Edmonton Trail.

From past years' experience, we knew that the heavier lifting was at the eastern leg of the route, and so we started at Edmonton Trail this year. Sure enough, we filled almost 20 bags of trash between Edmonton Trail and Centre Street. Approaching Centre Street, several of our crew noticed another crew (rogue River and Pathway Cleaners?) making a start on our leg of the river west of Centre Street. As a result, and rather than start a street fight (we could have taken them no problem) we doubled back and filled a few more bags on the little island of ground where Memorial Drive splits its east and west-bound lanes just east of the bridge.

In delivering the paperwork to City staff and the conclusion of the event, I noticed that where we had filled 20-some odd bags, the crew that cut in on our turf West of the bridge filled only four. And so our special thanks once again to our new and returning River and Pathway crew: Claire and Alan Zakrison, Landis McEwen, Diane Altwasser, Trevor and Mike Kobluk, Michael Willman, Debbie Melnik, Leslie Hannah, Barry Lassiter and Brian Hohm. Bags and bags and bags of trash thanks to all of you! Thanks also, I guess, to John McDermid, who managed not to screw up the online registration this year, and who gets to keep the t-shirt because of it. Hope to see you all next year.

Veggie Garden Gatherings

Renting a Gardening Plot

By Glenna Blackburn

We rented two garden plots last year after deciding we wanted to know where our food comes from and how it is grown – in keeping with the 100 mile diet everyone is talking about lately. Could we really do this in Calgary we wondered. And, as vegetable gardening newbies, would we know what to do? I frantically called my brother, who has a fabulous garden, and asked him. It's easy he says. Throw some seeds in the ground and you'll be fine.

We have always wanted to try our hand at a veggie garden, but living in Crescent Heights, our community is Squirrel Heaven, and those little critters get their paws in everywhere. We didn't want to chance having our newly planted rows fluffed up by anyone else's paws but our own.

Our jumping off point was a small ad in the Calgary Horticultural Society monthly newsletter, offering up garden plots. Hmmm, interesting we said. We called Jo Mulligan, president of the Garden Path Society in Inglewood, got all excited just speaking with her, and decided to go for it. Our initial objective was to rent one plot, but when we arrived at the site and saw there were 100 such plots available, we said oh what the heck, let's rent two.

Off to Plantation we went, (our community purveyor of fine perennials and other gardening necessities) searching through the many racks of vegetable seeds, and purchasing what we thought would make good eats for the following summer months. And what a summer it was! Hot and sunny and perfect for any garden. As the sun warmed the plots, our seeds grew. It was quite dramatic actually – especially those gardens which had planted zucchini seeds. And what a difference a few weeks would make in the growth of our tender little seedlings. And the sight of 100 plots, all with new bright green seedlings popping their heads out of the ground, brought a warm smile to many a sun starved, white prairie face. I began going down every second day, jumping on my bike to check on the progress of our young charges. And I would ride home swiftly, telling of all the exciting happenings down there – the beans are up! The beets are up! The arugula is up! (gee, no wonder they call it 'Rocket') The potatoes are flowering! And my stories would progress through the summer, just like our seeds.

We had a fabulous harvest from our two beds and as of the middle of October, because of our warm and glorious long autumn, we were still picking bright red chard, and enjoying crunchy carrots, fabulous white fleshed potatoes and tasty home grown beets. Heaven.

This year we have decided to rent three plots and try some exotic veggies and lettuces. Well, exotic for us anyways. Romaine lettuce! Butternut squash! Just walking through the other plots gives you a great chance to see what other people are growing and to talk to them about how to grow certain veggies and when to plant certain seeds. And at the end of the season, when everyone's garden is overflowing, you see how much growth and food comes from such tiny seeds, and it is a truly amazing sight.

The Garden Path Society builds and maintains these plots by having them freshly stained and filled with organic composted soil and ready to go each spring. The cost of these plots is $45 each, $10 of which is returned to you at the end of the season. The plots are on a piece of land in a forgotten part of Inglewood, where you feel you are in another world. There is an excellent water supply system with tie in points about every 50 feet which allows everyone easy access to hoses for watering their plots. Two sheds are complete with all the garden accoutrements any die hard gardener would ever have need for, including a box of gardening gloves! Once you have purchased your plot(s), you are sent the combination lock numbers so you can go anytime that suits. Stepping through those gates guarantees a very calm and peaceful feeling.

You can contact Jo at 232-1013 or check out their website at <http://members.shaw.ca/gardenpathsociety/gpmain.htm>.

Historic Walking Tours

The Village of Crescent Heights Celebrating 100 Years in the Heart

Explore this charming former village neighbourhood with tour guide Helga Shield. Savour the beautiful built heritage of the first and most significant settlement on the North Hill. Peak behind a few doors. Hear the intriguing and touching tales of some of its founding families.

Join us on Saturday, July 26th at 7:00 pm. We meet outside at the Crescent Heights Community Hall (1101 - 2nd Street NW) for an outdoor walk of approximately 1.5km.

Rosedale Walking Tour

Easy stroll through the neighbourhood of Rosedale. Walk offers a view of the city from Crescent Road promenade atop McHugh Bluff and some interesting historical memories. The tour was originally organized by local historian Kate Reeves, as a companion to her book Rosedale Stories, and this year it will be guided by Rosedale newcomer, Bill Waddell.

Friday, August 1st at 9:00 pm. Meet at Rosedale Community Hall, 901-11th Avenue NW.

Crescent Heights Babysitting Coop It Takes a Village...

The Babysitting Co-op continues to expand. We have lots of new members this year, and a whole crop of kids under the age of five. The Co-op is not only a great network for babysitting; it is also an excellent way to meet new people, make play dates, and ensure that you have a safety net if you should ever need short-notice or emergency care. If you are new to the neighbourhood or the city, and especially if you don't have family nearby, the Co-op can be an invaluable resource! Come join us at our next monthly meeting, we look forward to getting to know you.

How it works:

- Using a system of chits, members arrange and exchange babysitting amongst themselves on an as needed basis.
- All members and their families (all adults in the home) are required to participate in the Block Parent program and go through the Calgary Police Service's security screening process.

- Moms (and dads?!) can attend the once-a-month informal evening meeting (sans kids) to get to know one another. Meetings are held the last week of each month between September and June rotating at various members' homes. It's a great place to talk about parenting challenges, neighbourhood news, new things in your life, and enjoy munchies and wine.
- Community Association members in good standing pay a $25 non-refundable fee to participate.

And voila! Your own local Mary Poppins(es) can give you a few hours to yourself.

If you would like to see if joining the co-op is a venue for you, information on the May meeting date and place can be obtained from Robin at 276-8610.

Hey! Where can I pick up a copy of this GREAT newsletter?

The Crescent View is published monthly and is available for pick-up at Gardens Grace on Edmonton Trail, as well as The Riverside Coffee House, The Urban Baker, Pints & Half Pints, Boogies Burgers, The Country Kitchen, Subway, Joshua Tree, Crescent Heights Convenience, Second Cup on Centre Street, Center Convenience, Peter Pan Convenience Store, Lamda Centre and New Asian Market

The View is also delivered by volunteers to all households, but is very hard to deliver to any condo's or apartments due to building access, etc. If you would like to have enough copies for units in your condo or apartment building, please call our distribution manager Diane Altwasser at 276-7118.

If you would like access to the newsletter on the web, you can visit www.calgaryarea.com/nw/crescenthts/crescent.htm and you will see the View PDF underneath the Block Watch Logo on the right side of the screen.

The Birds and the Bees, The Twigs and the Trees

Courtesy Climate Change Central
For many, weekends in spring are filled with removing dead leaves and twigs, raking and mowing grass, and sprinkling mulch, fertilizer and water. Our lawns, trees, shrubs and gardens can take up a lot of our time in the warmer months. But did you know just how much of a drain they can also be on the environment?

Every time we run a two stroke gas-powered lawn mower for an hour we are actually emitting as much pollution as when we drive a car for 600 kilometers. And Canadian water usage goes up by an astounding 50 per cent in the summer months due to the watering of lawns and gardens.

So what can we do to reduce the impact our yard work has on the environment?

- Use solar and push powered mowers.

These are quiet, emission and electricity free.

- Leave grass clippings on your lawn. As they decompose they will act as a natural fertilizer.
- Add compost to your soil. It is a great fertilizer and reduces the food waste that ends up in our landfills.
- Reduce your water waste. Keep grass at least 3 inches long and give your lawn a good watering (2.5 centimeters) once a week.
- Try xeriscaping. This water-wise landscaping concept only uses plants and vegetation that are accustomed to a dry environment.

What You Need
Coloured Tissue Paper
White Glue
Heavy Paper

Draw a simple design on your heavy paper. A simple design works best. Cut around the edges so that your picture is shaped. Decide how you want to "colour" your image. This will be your template.

Tear tissue paper into small pieces (about 1" square). Crumple the tissue paper into a tight ball, and dip into white glue. Firmly press onto your picture to "colour" it.

Continue adding tissue paper to your image until it is completely covered!

Rosedale Community Playschool On the Move

As of this June, the Rosedale Community Playschool will be moving from the Rosedale Community Association building to the Wild Rose United Church, located at 1317-1st Street NW. Many volunteers and parents will be helping the school to set up its new room over the summer, and after community consultation and city approval, the playschool plans to open its doors in the fall.

The playschool board is very excited about the opportunity to relocate to Crescent Heights! The school will have a large, dedicated space in the church, daily access to a huge gym, and the use of a small fenced green space outdoors. The church administration has welcomed the school warmly as it is a perfect fit with the church's recent resolution to offer more community-based programs.

The school has been in operation for over 20 years and is a non-profit registered society, run by a volunteer board of directors and licensed by Alberta Children and Youth Services. The school's philosophy is rooted in the notion of a play-based program that sees play as child's work and an important part of their development. The aim of a play-based preschool is to provide a variety of interesting learning centres where a child is free to choose what s/he wants to play with.

The playschool offers 3 classes:

- Monday/Wednesday/Friday
9:00 to 11:30 am
4 year olds (22 children)
- Tuesday/Thursday
9:00 to 11:30 am.

Crescent Heights Garden Tour

Sunday, July 20th

The ever-popular Crescent Heights Garden Tour is happening again this summer. On Sunday, July 20, a varied selection of Crescent Heights gardens will be open for viewing from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The fee for the tour is $2 again this year (to cover costs), and maps can be picked up at the Community Hall, at 1101 - 2nd Street NW.
